Cummins Expresses Satisfaction at President's Decision.

Children and Christmas trees and Santa Claus and carols and candy that was the combination that crowded Tulsa churches to capacity last night.

The green mistletoe and the red of holly mingled in the auditorium decorations and the trees were all a sparkle. Songs, recitations, drills and pantomimes by the children took the program to waltz. At the last came Santa Claus, with good things and gifts galore for the little ones, thus bringing the end of a perfect evening.

"I think the president has done the right thing," said Senator Cummins, local chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, and chairman of the subcommittee which considered the legislation known as the Cummins bill.

It will have been very unfortunate if the roads had been turned back before necessary legislation was enacted. Legislation to meet actions in connection with the seizure of the properties undoubtedly will be sent to the president next month. It may be possible to complete the legislation by the end of January."

BALTIMORE, Dec. 24.—Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore Ohio Railroad Co., said tonight he considered March 1 a very unlikely date for the turning back of the roads.

"I am very glad that the railroad has seen fit to turn the roads back to defer the date from January 1 because at January 1 proper legislation will be lacking."

Two Midnight Services.

Christmas was ushered in this morning with midnight services in the Holy Family Catholic church and Trinity Episcopal church. The services were concluded at 2 a. m.

GIVING FEATURE OF CELEBRATION

Christmastime ever, even if you ask the children. There were so many places for them to go and so much planned for their amusement that it will be a day long remembered in Tulsa child life.

Children and Christmas trees and Santa Claus and carols and candy that was the combination that crowded Tulsa churches to capacity last night.

The green mistletoe and the red of holly mingled in the auditorium decorations and the trees were all a sparkle. Songs, recitations, drills and pantomimes by the children took the program to waltz. At the last came Santa Claus, with good things and gifts galore for the little ones, thus bringing the end of a perfect evening.

"The beautiful Christmas cantata, 'The Story of the Star,' which opened the services in the First Methodist church, was followed by the arrival of 'Old Santa' by airplane. After collecting the gifts for the needy, he distributed treats to everyone—grownups as well as tiny tots.

An old-fashioned tree and an old-fashioned program were the features of the celebration at the Boston Avenue Methodist church. Gifts flew all over the tree and after every number on the program everybody turned to everybody else and said, "Isn't this swell?" or "Aren't they dear?" Treats for 500 had been provided.

Besides the tree, a fireplace occupied the pulpit of the First Baptist church. The program went like this: Song, junior department; invocation, Reverend Anderson; solo, "Love"; Normal Ware; recitation, Mabel Neal; recitation, Ralph Cody; song, primary department; Mother Goose cantata; collection for Orphan's home, and distribution of candies and gifts.

The lights were low in the First Presbyterian church while a pantomime of the story of the birth of Christ was given to the accompaniment of the reading from the Bible.

and pipe organ music. The pantomime, which took place in a large frame, was in 10 scenes.

At the College Hill Presbyterian church Sunday school children, assisted by the choir, rendered the cantata, "Around the Manger," after which Santa Claus proved that he could be several places at once by appearing with presents for those present.
